Insightful and refreshing English drama workshops and theatre performances

Creative, non-formal learning through drama and theatre

Offers for schools (4- 26 years old), teachers and sometimes individuals

Enhancement of English language skills

Native speakers, professional actors

A safe environment to build self-confidence, social and communication skills

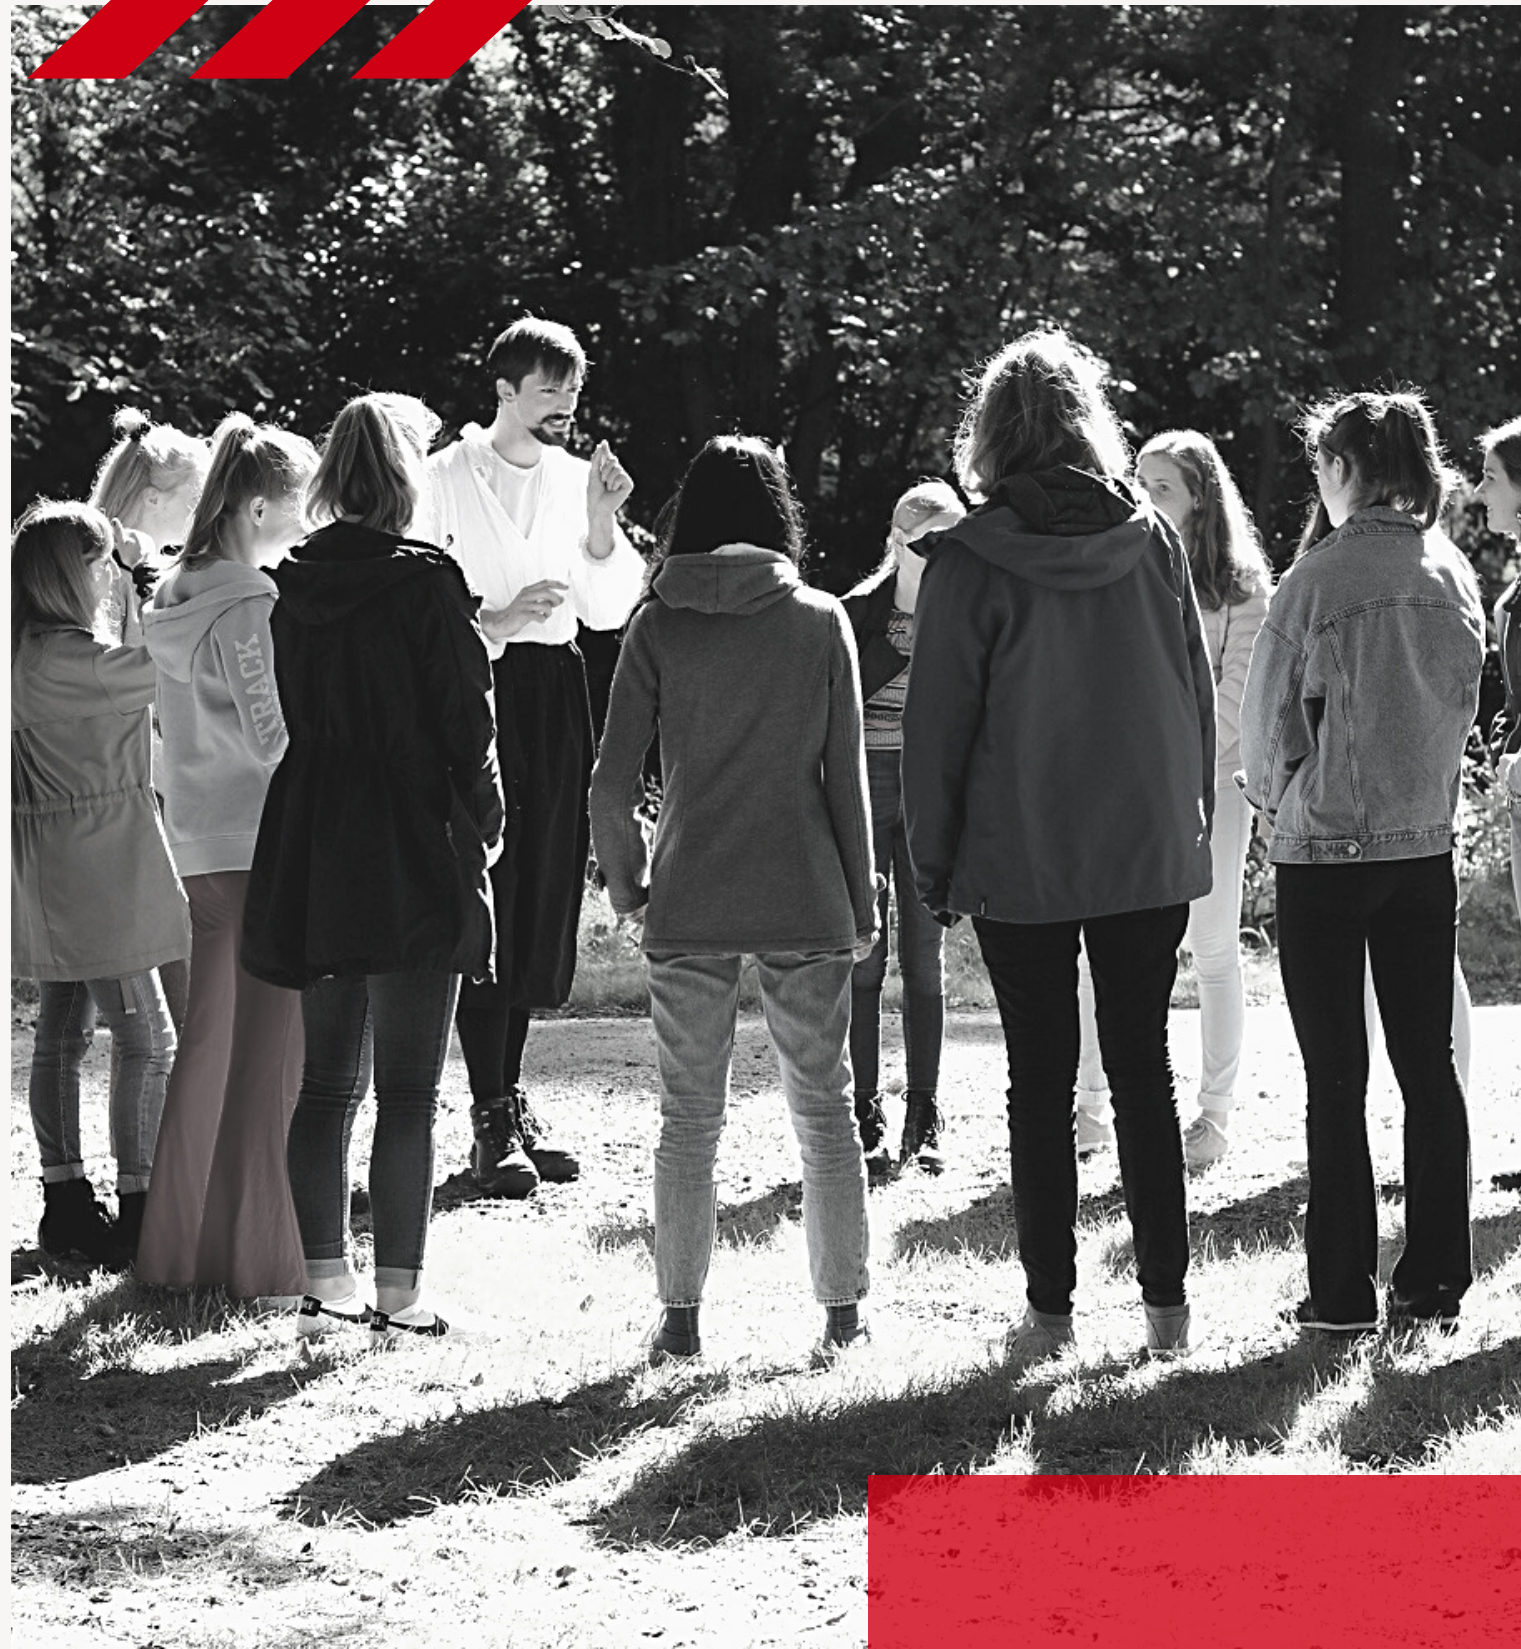

Flexible and tailor-made projects

We use drama as a tool to shape students into well-rounded individuals who can make a real difference!

Our expertise are small-group English theatre workshops with real connection, safe space and quality time to develop a mutual conversation between the group and the theatre professional(s). We highly value direct contact with students and their teachers.

Our mission is to offer a creative tool to stimulate and help schools work on “Goed Burgerschap” or in our unique case “responsible international citizens.”

The primary goal is not just to expose students to English or provide drama and theatre workshops but to help them be better people in all aspects of life.

A few examples

these workshops not only entertain your students, but also but also let them learn new communication, creative and empathy skills.

The Power of YOU Workshop

Finding your inner confidence through drama

That's a Rubbish Idea! Workshop

Re-thinking waste, garbage and recycling in a drama-based setting

Feel Alive Workshop

LGBTQ programme to encourage discussion about inclusion and diversity

“We enjoyed this to the fullest! Professional approach with space for every child to feel safe, comfortable and most importantly: happy! They learned new words and skills through the workshop and the organisation was done in a great way.” HSV, Den Haag, 2021

"De verhalenverteller is een talent. Het was een meeslepend en grappig verhaal. De leerlingen (en ik) luisterden met smacht naar zijn verhaal. Het komt zelden voor dat 1 persoon zoveel leerlingen op hetzelfde moment heeft weten te boeien."

IBS Yunus Emre, Den Haag, 2019

Our team develops, grows and learns through international Erasmus+ programmes

...and why is it successful?

1. Theatre education has proved to be a unique way of non-formal learning, gaining insights in drama techniques, storytelling, communication and most importantly learning about oneself.

Why does STET have an education department?

2. Students learn lifelong skills through cultural education.

They:

- learn to articulate their emotions in a social situation (kerndoel 54)
- gain self-confidence
- develop to reflect on themselves and the world around them (kerndoel 55)
- become able to express themselves better
- learn (how) to effectively cooperate with others
- acquire some knowledge about the arts and learn to appreciate it (kerndoel 56)

3. STET Education provides a supplemental education programme that reinforces English language skills in order to help students do better in their curriculums and in their social life outside school.

4. Students gain insight in the creative work behind our productions by understanding what moves a professional artist to make what they make.

Why choose us?

- What makes us different is that we're not just about drama and English. We're about using these tools to shape students into well-rounded individuals who can make a difference.
- We're all about celebrating differences. Choosing STET means the school stands for inclusion and exposure to diverse perspectives. It's not just about learning; it's about understanding the world.
- We're dealing with real issues. Our students learn to confront bullying, environmental challenges, disabilities, LGBTIQ+ and more with the toolbox of drama.
- We tailor our programmes to the school's unique needs, so you can be sure it's a perfect fit for their students.

→ STET Education is the go-to choice for schools because we offer a unique blend of personal growth, real-world impact, and tailored learning. And what makes us unique? We're not just about the classroom; we're about life, real issues, awesome connections, and building a more empathetic world, all this with the toolbox of drama.

Help us

continue to work towards enabling young people through arts education to reach their full potential as productive, caring, responsible international citizens!
